Module 7 - Practical

Question #1: Sockets
A company wants a simple application to allow employees to from one computer to another over a network. Implement a server program that listens for a client connection and receives a file. Implement a client program that connects to the server and sends a file.

Question #2: JDBC
A university wants to develop a that allows students to store and retrieve their academic records using . The system should enable students to:

new student records (ID, Name, Department, CGPA).
student details using their student ID.