

SPOT Exercises

Suppose a binary data file named Exercise1.dat has been created and its data are created using writeDouble(double) in DataOutputStream. The file contains an unspecified number of floating points. Write a program to find the sum of the floating points.